THE WEEK IN SOCIETY.

FESTIVITIES OF THE EASTER SEASON. MANY WEDDINGS-INTERESTING AMATEUR THEAT-

BICALS-DANCES AND RECEPTIONS. Wedding bells have rung merrily since Easter Monday, the young people have danced with zest, many receptions with spring flowers and bright music have receptions with spring flowers and bright moste have charmed the more sedate, and the ball of pleasure is well-started for six weeks of enjoyment, after which every one will away to Newport, Saratoga or Mount Desert. Monday afternoon was so pleasant that everybody was out, and all those who could obtain cards attended the wedding of little Mrs. Tom Thumb to tiny Count Magri. The ceremony was interesting and the reception at the Murray Hill Hotel novel in its way, the guests being obliged to get on their beauty. esta being obliged to get on their knees properly to gratulate the brical couple. Mrs. Belmont, Mrs. congratulate the brical couple. Mrs. Bellmont, ares.

Paran Stevens, Mrs. Wilson and many other well-known people were present. The other festivals of the day were also in honor of little people. Mrs. C. C. Dedge gathered a number of charming children at her home for in Easter party, and in the evening came the Children's Carnival at the Metropolitan Opera House. The enter-ainment at the Art Rooms, Brooklyn, was a success. Mrs. Potter read and Miss Otis recited.

Tuesday was a day of weddings. Miss Priscilla Alden Whitney and Lieutenant John Nicholson, of the Navy, had a quiet wedding fellowed by a breakfast at the house of Mrs. Sylvanus Reed, aunt of the bride. Dr. Morgan read the service in the flower-decked parlors, in the presence of the relatives. In Brooklyn Miss Henristta Seely and William S. Herriman were wedded. The house on the Heights was filled with guests. Two bridesmaids in white, carrying clusters of pale pink roses, attended the bride, and after the ceremony by the Rev. Dr. N. Vandeveer there was a reception with music and dancing. Miss Margaret Auchineless and Richard Colgate were married in the evening in Orange, N. J. The large country-house in Llewellyn Park was crowded. Lights gleamed from every window, flowers decked the rooms, and as the bridal party entered to the strains of the Wedding March they formed a pleasant picture. The the weeding March they formed a picasant picture. The bride wore white, with a flowing veil, and carried a cluster of orange biossoms. A train full of New-York guests attended the weeding. Miss Nellie Brandreth and Frederic Potter, son of Orlando B. Potter, were married in Sing Sing, and at Rye Miss Carrie Halstead and Arthur Tutbill of this city.

Numerous receptions and dances, with another quartet of fashionable weddings, kept carriages rolling on the avenue Wednesday afternoon and evening. One of the most effective weddings was in Grace Church just before sunset, when Dr. John Purdue Gray, jr., led to the altar Miss Mary Halle Mygatt. Miss Mary Bunting Hyslop and James Grahame Gardiner were wedded at the Sc Retormed Church in the afternoon. In Brooklyn Miss Harriet Booth and Mr. Dewey had a brilliant wedding me of the bride in Carleton-ave., and Miss Elise Faller was married to William C. Whitfield in the on Avenue Presbyterian Church. The chief incident of the evening was the amateur theatricals at the Metropolitan Opera House. The large audience laughed immoderately over the antics of the young men who personated several sentimental feminine characters in the two little plays, "Who's to Win Him" and "Betsey " In the first play Frederick Satterlee as Sylvia, a" horsey " young lady, wore a riding habit with mascu Lloyd Warren in a full trained dress danced refully: John Wilmerding, in a picturesque "bang md artistic costume, was bewitchingly sentimental; Pairfax Harrison as Arabella, wore a bewildering cos tame of satin and lace; but the prettiest "girl" on the stage was Valentine Hall, who as Rose captured th hearts of his audience by her (his) sweet simplicity of manner. In the second play Edward Faies Coward as Betsy was capital and Lloyd Warren, in a becoming crimson silk dress, bonnet and mousquetaire gloves and high-neeled French boots, played the part of the firting young wife of Marmaduke (Alexander Mason). Among the guests were George Henry Warren, the Misses Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Barton N. Harrison, Mrs. Paran Stevens, Mrs. Wilmerding, Mrs. Donglas Robiuson, jr., Mrs. Bobert Winthrop, Miss Winthrop and Mrs. Satter-

The largest wedding of the week was celebrated at St.
Thomas's Church on Thursday evening, when Miss Selens Coe and Chauncey Frederick Kerr were married by the Rev. Dr. Morgan. The carriages extended for several blocks in all directions and the church was crowded with guesta. The bride in an elaborate robe of white satin and pearl beading was attended by four bridesmaids in rose pink and a maid of henor in pale yellow. The reception at the house, just below the church, lasted until midnight. The Misses Babcock entertained about a hundred young people at a german the same evening; Mrs. Burke, of West Thirty-seventh-st., also gave a dance, and Mrs. Louis de Bebian a large reception. Mrs. Marshall O. Roberts had a company of twenty to dinner, the table being decked with deep jacqueminot roses; Mrs. White gave a handsome dinner party, and Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Rives entertained in the same way. The meeting of the Thursday Evening Club, at Mrs. Alden's, in East Fortieth-st., drew together about 200 people, who etijoyed music and reading. The comedicate of "Who's to Win Him I' given at the house of Mrs. R. W. Burke, No. 47 West Thirtyseventh-st., was largely attended. The cast included the Misses Burke and J. Wray Cleveland, favorably known in amateur theatrical creles. Miss Katharine E.
Van Nest, daughter of the late J. Janeway Van Nost, made a successful debut as an amateur actress.
In Brookiyn the Cotillon Ball, at the Art Rooms, was a pleasaut affair. About 200 people were present, and a german was danced after supper. Mrs. Polhemus, of Remsen-st., gave a small dancing party, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Itwin Martin celebrated their silver wedding.

of Remsen-st, gave a small dancing party, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Irwin Martin celebrated their silver wedding. On Friday Mrs. General Webb entertained a number of young people at a dance, which was pleasantly informal, and Mrs. Oothout had the members of the Madrigal Club at her house, in East Ninth-st. The Trio Club met at Miss Van Santvoord's, and Mrs. Bradish estertained a company at dinner. A number of New-York people went out to Orange in the evening to witness the performance of "The Old Love and the New," given for a charity. Mrs. Fotter, Mr. Coward, and other well-known amatedras were in the cast.

A large number of guests went down to Babylon resterday to see the meet of the Meadow Brook Hunt. They were entertained at luncheon by Mr. and Mrs. Austin Corbin, and afterward the meet took place, the hunters in their pink coats forming a bright bit of coloring against the sombre landscape and gray sky. In the afterneon Mrs. Zerega gave a reception at her house in West Forty-eighth st. and a dinner-party in the evening. A musicale was given in the evening by Mrs. Commodore Dickerson in aid of a free kinder,gurten. Miss Morgan played on the harp, Miss de Lussan sang, and Frank Lincoln recited. Mrs. Edward King gave a "small and early" dance at her pleasant house in East Ninth-st.; and the entertainment at the University Club Theatre for the benefit of the Calvary Rollef Fund, was pleasant and successful.

The Kirmess will be the principal occurrence this week. It will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday. The dances in the evening will include Datck, Russian and French costume dances. The afterneons will be devoted to the amusement of the children. The booths are to be filled with fine goods, all those at the Russian booth being imported for the occasion. The costumes are unusually handsome. The Skin and Cancer Hospital will enjoy the proceeds. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, of No. 72 East Thirty-fourth-st., has charge of the tickets and boxes.

The wedding of Miss Haven and John Borland on Wednesday Affernoon, at No. 238

There are to be two afternoons of authors' readings in add of the international copyright movement at the Madison Square Theatre, on April 28 and 29. Among engagements recently announced are those of Mrs. John Minturn to Charles H. Marshall; Miss Edith McKeever to Hoffman Miller; Miss King to Alexander Baring; and Miss Fanny Strong, of Long Island, to Howard Henry.

IN AID OF THE CALVARY RELIEF FUND. The theatrical entertainment given last eveng at the University Club Theatre, in aid of the Calvary Railef Department, was highly successful from a pecu-biary point of view. The hail was crowded. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walsh, George de Forest Grant, Miss Adele Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt Paimer, plause. The second part of the entertainment was the performance of "The Legend of Prenzberg," a drama in three acts, written by Mrs. William Stewart Macfarlane. The piece was somewhat melodramatic in its character. The principal parts were filled by Joseph O. Crane, G. Trimble Davidson, Miss Gorrou, Mrs. Frank Schlesinger and Mrs. W. S. Macfarlane.

ANNIVERSARY OF " MAY BLOSSOM." A year ago last night the managers of the Madison Square Theatre and Mr. Belasco, the author of "May Blossom," had the satisfaction of seeing that play received with tokens of satisfaction by the audience, which saw it for the first time. During the year "May Blossom" has bloomed perennially, and seems to-day to be as fresh and attractive to New-York audiences as during the first week of its run: Last night it was played at the People's Theatre before a house which was packed to its fullest extent. When the audience had left the theatre the birthday of the play was celebrated. In one of the large foyers of the theatre a supper had been laid and Harry Miner, who had asked the "May Blossom" company, the Madison Square Company and the sonn company, the Madison Square Company and the "Hazel Kirks" company to help to eat it, sat at the head of his table and beamed on a merry little company. The author, David Belasco, was present; Miss Georgia Cayvan, May Biossom herself, was there, as were also Ben Maginley, Joseph Wheelock, W. H. Crompton, F. Robinson, Nick Long, Miss Henderson, Frank Currier, Frank Jackson, and Miss Carter, members of the company, Besides these were present Daniel and Gustave Frohman, Harry Rockwood the manager, and Ramsay Morris. There were most of the "Private Secretary" Morris. There were most of the "Private Secretary" party also, and later a few of the "Hazel Kirke" company, including Mr. Couldock and Thomas Whiffen, came in. It was a merry party and did not break up until late.

NEVADA CONQUERS ARDITI. CHICAGO, April 22 .- Many in the audience that listened to Mile, Nevada in "Lucia di Lamme last night, were puzzled to know the meaning of certain incidents in which she and Signor Arditi, the con were the principal figures. At the end of the song "Non mia giunge" there were several outbursts of applause. The orchestra generally gives to these some instrumental effect. This time Arditi was sitent. Flowers were passed, and again the audience roared an encore. Nevada came out and was willing to repeat it, but Arditi sat silent. She had to retire. Again it, but Arditi sat silent. She had to retire. Again the audience applauded; this time more vigorously. More flowers passed up. Arditi attempted to shift the scenes with his baton. The crowd would not have it. Miss Nevada came out tripping, and was seen to speak to Signor Arditi. The latter shook his head and waved her away. It seemed that in a few minutes more the roof would have been down over Arditi's head if he had not struck the note. Nevada, it appears, wanted to sing "Home, Sweet Home." Arditi had to surrender, but he did it with an ill-grace. Nevada sang the song with much feeling, and the andience rose to its feet to applaud her. Nevada said after the performance: "When the people want me to sing' Home, Sweet Home,' I will do it if I have to snatch a fiddle and play my own accompaniment. I am in my own country, and I am not to be crushed by any little coterie of mutual and high-priced admirationists from abroad. If Mr. Majleson does not like it he can do the other thing, though it will say I believe Mapleson has nothing to do with these contemptible jealousies."

A PROSPEROUS WEEK FOR GERMAN OPERA. Boston, April 11 (Special).-The German Opera Company, under the direction of Walter Dam-rosch, has created a genuine furore among the musical people of Boston, and large houses have been the rule at the Boston Theatre the past week. The performances are praised on every hand and the engagement are praised on every hand and the chargement will prove a success financially as well as musically. This afternoon "Tannhauser" was given, with Frau Materna, Fraulein Slach, Herren Senott and Robinson in the cast. The theatre was literally packed, at least 3,000 people witnessing the performance. To night Glack's "Orpheus" will be given for the first time in America. The receipts for the week have been large, amounting to $27,000, and the advance sales for the second week give promise of large houses.

EDWIN BOOTH TO BE ENTERTAINED. PHILADELPHIA, April 11 (Special),-The Penn Club of this city, composed of the wealthiest residents, will give a banquet to Edwin Booth on Friday night.

UNIOLD WEALTH IN WYOMING. "It is a great compliment to the wonderful extent and as yet almost unknown wealth of our country, that so many people will come out on a stormy night to listen to a lecture on one of its political divisions which equals in area the States of New-York, Newwhich equals in area the States of New-York, New-Jersey and Pennsylvania together, and is half again larger than all New-England." said ex-Governor John W. Hoyt, of Wyoming, as he began a lecture before the Geographical Society in Chickering Hall last night, on the resources and wonders of his adopted territory. His tales of natural wealth and resources were more wonderful than those of Aladdin and his lamp. "The larger portion of the 100,000 square miles of territory of Wyoming," he continued, "is a perfect garden, supporting at present over 1,500,000 head of cattle. In the mountains are gold, silver, in and immense deposits of copper. There are two iron mountains, the one red hematite, and the other magnetic ore, the smaller of which is 1,000 feet high, and costains 1,300,000,000 tons of iron. Immediately below this are immense fields of lignite, a species of bituminous cosi, large enough to supply the world. There are also large soda lakes, one of which is worth $50 a ton. Then, there are untold miles of petroleum fields which contain 1,000,000,000 barrels to the square mile."

THE CASES OF BURTON AND CUNNINGHAM.

PREPARING FOR THE BILLIARD TOURNAMENT.

The competitors in the billiard tournament which will begin at Irving Hall on April 20 are hard at work improving their play. The highest run which has yet been made by any one of them is credited to William Sexton, who is said to have scored over 200 on Thursday. He is practising in his rooms at Thirty-fourth-st. and Broadway. Joseph Dion is at work at No. 71 Broadway and on Friday is said to have made a run of 130 points. The same score was made by Maurice Daly. He is practising at his rooms in Broadway opposite the Post Office, and is said to be making rapid improvement. Jacob Schneffer has rooms under Wallack's Theatre, and is working hard, with good results. His friends say that he will receive either the first or second prize in the tournament. George F. Slosson is still in Chicago, but is expected in New-York on Thursday night. In the meantime he is not neglecting his practice.

The tournament will sonsist of ten games of 500 points, each man playing one game against each of the other competitors. The table used will measure 5 feet by 10, with 14-inch balk lines. The hall has been engaged until May 2, allowing two weeks for the completion of the tournament. Allowance is thus made for the playing off of tie games. The stakes consist of $1,000 given by the Brunswick-Balke Table Company and $250 put up by each player. The total together with the gate money, will be divided in four prizes. A meeting of the players will be hed this week to deedde what proportions the prizes shall bear to one another. Sexton, who is said to have scored over 200 on Thurs

ANOTHER WRESTLING MATCH ARRANGED. The final deposit, $150, in the Carl Abs-Matsada Sorakichi wrestling match was made yesterday at The Police Gazette office. Max Stern is Abs's backer, and R. K. Fox Sroakichi's. The full amount of stakes is $250. The match will come off at Turn Hall, is East Fourth-st. A previous match resulted in a draw. Both men are consident of winning this time. There is a great difference in the size of the men, Abs weighing 230 pounds while the Japanese weights only 160 pounds. At the previous contests a borns $$\frac{1}{2}$$20g bill was taken in at the door. In a division of the spoils it fell to the shaw of Sorakichi. The day after receiving it he passed it off on a furniture company, not knowing it to be spurious. No trouble was given him, however, as he easily accounted for his possession of the bill. at The Police Gazette office. Max Stern is Abs's backer

ATHLETES IN PRACTICE.

The third ties of the first-class handicap The third ties of the first-class handicap series of the Racquet Court Club will be played off this week. The first game will be on Wednesday between E. La Moutagne, Jr., and David Lydig. On Thursday H. S. Hoyt will play B. B. Kirkiand; on Friday L. M. Rutherford, Jr., will play G. Hyde Clarke.

The Williamsburg (Brocklyn) Athletic Club is busily engaged in putting its grounds in order. The spring games, as usual, will be held on Decoration Day. For the benefit of the gymnasium, however, the club will give, some time prior to that date, an athletic entertainment in Temperance Hall, Kent-ave. (Brocklyn).

John Meagher, a well-known walker, is training on the Williamsburg grounds for his match with the Euglishman, Raby. The race will be ten miles for a stake of $500.

JAMES D. FISH GUILTY.

ELEVEN OF THE COUNTS SUSTAINED. THE JURY AGREE AFTER MIDNIGHT-MR. ROOT'S

IMPASSIONED APPEAL. The trial of James D. Fish in the United States Circuit Court reached its twenty-third and last day yesterday. It began just one month ago to-day.

Two of the witnesses have together occupied tea days in giving their testimony. Judge Benedict did not wish to have the case continue into another week and has kept the court open

District Attorney Root, who began his summing-up on Friday afternoon, continued it yesterday morning. He was suffering from a severe cold and was so hoarse that his voice was sometimes inaudible a few feet away. The jury, however, followed his argument closely though or twice he was called on to raise his voice, which sunk almost to a whisper. He said that the books of the bank were intended truthfully and fully to represent the transactions of the bank and not to conceal them. He read the entries in the loan and collateral book, in which read the entries in the loan and collateral book, in which loans to Grant and Ward were entered as made on collateral, whereas no collateral was really deposited.

Mr. Fish, Mr. Root said, knew that these entries were made. He had expected that an entry of the loans would be made, and had directed that a certain course should be taken with loans to Grant & Ward. Mr. Root showed the jury the loan envelopes found in the bank, which were without the collaterals that were recorded as deposited, and said: "As the only substitute for $375,000 the bank examiner found these envelopes." The loans, he said, were concealed under a mass of false and fraudulent representations. Mr. Daboli testified that they were all made by the direction of the president Mr. Root almost rose above his difficulty of articulation when, with special carnesiness, he appreached another branch of the subject. He said: "The relations of the defendant and General Grant, and Ferdinand Ward and General Grant, have strictly nothing to de with this case. But I must allude to them, pecause I regard the attempt to use him in defendant to case-the attempt of buoy himself up by this great name in the waters in buoy himself up by this great name in the waters in which he fears to be overwhelmed—as infamous. The letters between the defendant and General Grant of July 5 and 6, 1882, are involved in a mystery. We have only the defendant's wont for the assertion that what is produced here is really a copy of his letter to General Grant. On the other hand, we have the statement of General Grant, made in the presence of death itself, that he never received any letter to which Georgia Grant, made in the presence of death itself, that he never received any letter to which Georgia Grant, ment contracts were mentioned. We have the evidence of Mr. Spencer that before General Grant received that letter, if he ever did receive it, or before he received whatever letter was sent to him by Mr. Fish, Ferdinand Ward had dictated a reply. Farly in the morning, in great haste, before Mr. Spencer had opened the safe. Ward produced his writting pad with the carefully prepared letter. How did it happen that the answer was dictated by Ward before General Grant could have reached his office or received the letter! I have no explanation to offer except this: That that letter was concored by Ward and Fish to get the signature of General Grant to show to other persons as evidence that they had his assistance. I know that when Fish tells us that from and after July 5, when he expressed his wish to unite with General Grant in supervising the work of the young men in the firm in a fatherly way; when he tells us that from that time he never spoke to the General of this business in which the firm was embarked; when he tells us that he refrained from saying anything to General Grant publicable they spent days in each other's company—I know that there hes back of it some dishonest work. No honest man would ever have done as he did. These men were not dealing frankiy with the Grants. The letters in which the defendant asks. which he fears to be overwhelmed-as infame other's company—I know that there lies back of it some dishonest work. No honest man would ever have don as he did. These men were not dealing frankly with the Grants. The letters in which the defendant asks ward not to say anything to the Grant about the Belmont Mine, which he believed to be worthless, prove that. And now he says he is to be acquitted because this old soldier stands on the same level. Did General Grant know that Ward was lending money without collateral, that accounts were overstawn, that collateral after heig deposited was abstracted! Where is he connected not find in it even the least hitterness for the fee who had so long opposed him. They knew that greating and heart could not stoop to their petty schemes. They know too the one weakness of this great nature—that trustfulness and steadmanness that lehim to lean on those he thought his friends and never to desert them, so that to his great powers are added the simplicity of a child and then while this firm was in the last extreme, when And then while this firm was iff the last extreme, when they saw the end was near and Ward was running to and fro in the effort to raise money, this defendant lets Ward induce General Grant to go to a personal friend and borrow $150,000 and thus secure an additional sum to sink in the great whirlpool, at the expense of every bit of property that the old soldier had saved for bonself and his family. I do not know in the record of business treachery anything that can equal the treatment of this simple, great soldier by these two great swindiers. Forever be sunk in infamy the ignoble soul that would seek to besoulre his great reputation which is the glory of the country, for the wreed of gain, by means of the petty tricks and lying devices of this pair of confidence operators.

to be smirch the great reputation which is the gory of the country, for the wreed of gain, by means of the perty tricks and lying devices of this pair of confidence operators."

At ore point Mr. Root was interrupted by Mr. Smith, of the defendant's counsel, who denied the District-Attorney's right to make certain statements of matters that had not been received in evidence. There was a lively interchange of words for a few minutes, but the attorneys were quieted by the Judge.

Judge Benedict began his charge to the jury at 4:55 p. m., and was a little over an hour in delivering it. He explained that the first four of the counts of the indictment charged the misapplication of the funds of the bank; he last three charged the abstraction of the funds and credits of the bank, and others concerned the maxing of false entries in the books of the bank. He charged that the president of the bank had the authority to loan the money of the bank without collateral, provided he acted in good faith and with honest intent. The question was whether there was an agreement for a loan in good faith or whether the form of a loan was adopted to cover a different transaction. The question of good faith was to be decided from surrounding circumstances. If these were not bona-fide loans, what were they? The prosecution offered two explanations—that they were part of a scheene of the afendant and Ward to get the maney of the bank in their own possession, by false and frandulent entries, or that the defendant, not knowing that there were no contracts, allowed the money of the bank to be used for some speculative purpose without inquiry. As to the allegations of false entries, the Judge said that the question of the defendant's guilt under these counts did not depend on whether he had seen the extrice in the book if he had given directions that they be made. If he knowingly caused Daboll to make one of these entries calculated and designed to deserve the bank examiner, he might be committed under the solenn responsibility they assumed an

MR FRELINGHUYSEN MAY LIVE SEVERAL DAYS. There was no material change in the condition of ex-Secretary of State Freilinghuysen yesterday, but there was a perceptible decrease of strength. The liver falls to act, but the rapid progress of disease is prevented by the exceptional vitality of the dying man. At 2 p. m. the following bulletin was issued by the physicians: "Mr. Frelinghuysen's condition is unchanged since yesterday. He is lying seemingly unconscious, except when roused to take nourishment, which can be given in only small quantities." At 9 o'clock last evening it was reported that no change had occurred since 2 o'clock. PLAYING BALL IN A SNOWSTORM.

When the game of baseball was begun at the When the game of baseball was begun at the Pelo grounds yesterday, it was snowing hard. The contest lasted only three lunings, and as the fall of snow did not cease, the umpire called the game. The Metropelitan Club scored one run in the first inning. Nelson led of with a hit and scored on a long two-bagger by Brady. The New-York players did not score until the third inning, when hits by O' Kourke, Ewing andConnor secured two runs. As the game was started in the show, many of the specialors grubbled because Umpire Quinn stopped it before at least five innings had been played.

The proposed opening of the baseball season at Washington Park, Brocklyn, was postponed until to-morrow on account of the snow. The Brocklyn and Frinceton College clubs were scheduled to play. The Brocklyn and Newark clubs will play to-morrow.

For Middle Atlantic States, fair weather in the south-ern portion, local rains followed by fair weather in the northern portion, slightly colder in the southern portion, nearly stationary temperature in the northern portion.

TRIBUNE LOCAL OBSERVATIONS.

The diagram shows the becometrical variations in this city by tents, of inches. The perpendicular lines give divisions of time for the 5a hour preceding midnight. The irregular waits line represents the calculations by the mercury during times hours. The brokes or actived line represents the rariations in temperature, as indicated by the thermometer at line and placemary, 5th Broadwag. TRIBUNE OFFICE, April 12-1 a. m .- The moven the barometer yesterday was downward. Clear weather was followed in the afternoon by cloudy weather and light snow (.04 mehos when melted.) The temperature ranged between 35° and 47°, the average (394°) being 74° lower than on the corresponding day last year, and 23° higher than on Friday.

Cloudy weather, with occasional anow er rata, followed by fair weather, may be expected to-day in this city and

MONUMENT TO SIDNEY LANIER, THE POET. MACON, Ga., April 11 (Special) .- The movement to erect a monument in this city to the memory of Sidney Lanier, the poet, has awakened widespread inter-est. W. R. Thayer, one of the proprietors of *The Phila-*delphia Evening Bulletin, has written to a prominent action of this city, offering to open and manage a subscrip-tion for the purpose in Philadelphia. S. Keyser, of Bal-timore, has also written a letter to Mayor Price on the subject. He says that his brother, E. Keyser, of Rome subject. He says that his brother, E. Keyser, of Rome, Italy, who is the sculptor that made a bust of Lauter for a party of Baltimoreans several years ago, is anxious to secure the contract to make the monument. In Macon interest in the matter deepens every day. A meeting of a large number of prominent persons will be held in a few days, when it is expected that a Lauter Monument Association will be formed. They have no doubt but that the monument will be creeted within eighteen months.

OVER-PRODUCTION IN CLOTH MANUFACTURE. FALL RIVER, April 11 (Special) .- The printcloth market to-day is reported firm at 2% cents for 56s, and 3% cents for 64s. There has been a reduction in the stock on hand from last week of 21,000 pieces, as the following figures will show: Production, 170,000 pieces, deliveries 191,000, stock 399,000, sales 130,000. A written agreement on shutting down the mills has not been received from the Rhede Island manufacturers as yet, but judging from conferences held by manufacturers of this city and that State, it is not improbable that such an agreement will be for warded by Monday, and that a few of the mills here will stop on Wednesday night for a period of two weeks.

NIEDER SELTERS WATER.

The many years during which the celebrated waters above mentioned have been used has given an ep-portanity to spread their reputation to the ends of the earth. Artificial waters may answer the purpose of some but there is always a class which insist upon having th genuine, if possible, and to the latter we commend the notice in another column of Mr. Anthony Occhs, 51 War ren-st., sole agents for the sale of these waters in the United States .- [Journal of Commerce.

EASY WAYS OF CATCHING COLD. "Then the cold penetrates and they die of preumonia."

Not long since the writer asked the following question of Dr. W. A. Hammond, the celebrated surgeon and specialist, at his residence in this city: "Doctor, why are lung disease. so much more common and fatal than they used to be?"

"There are several reasons," he answered. "But the chief reason in this country is that people will persist in living in overheated rooms. So when they co out you see, the cold penetrates and they die of pneumonia."

A phylician in large practice in this city said in conversation a few days ago: "I pover saw people so careless of their health as they seam to have been during the past season; in fact, as I see them now, almost every day."

" In what ways I" inquired a gentleman in the company. "In many," answered the doctor. "Women are, perhaps ore careless than men. They will come out of heated ba rooms, supper-rooms or opera houses, when all in a glow, and stand unprojected in cold draughts of air. Or they will jump into carriages, insufficiently wrapped, and simply in riding a few blocks take a chill that often develops into pheumonia, or some lingering disease of the throat and lungs. And society men are not much more sensible, and suffer in proportion." What is the best protection against taking cold. Doctor? "In such weather as this -that is in winter, spring and fall-the best plan is to wear a plaster over the lunes on the chest and back, changing when necessary. I advise that, and recommend Benson's Capeine Plaster as by all means the best for that purpose. We cannot avoid all the chances of taking cold, even if we are ever so careful, and Benson's Plaster is the surest safeguard I know of. If everybody would wear them for at least a month to come we sho cases of pneumonia." In buying Benson's Plasters be certain you get what you
